Project 1012FY25 – HR Remuneration

Brief Company Profile

This Singapore-based early intervention centre specialises in diagnosing and supporting children with speech, language, social communication and developmental challenges. It offers a holistic suite of services including individualised therapy plans, occupational and educational support, social-skills groups and school-readiness programmes. These are all delivered with a child-centred, evidence-based and engaging approach. The team works closely with families to equip children with the communication and learning skills they need to thrive in everyday settings.

Project Scope

To establish a structured remuneration framework that supports fair and performance-driven pay, leading to greater transparency.

Student Requirements

- A 3-member team with students from the Organizational Behavior and Human Resources (OBHR) major would be advantageous.
- The team will be mentored by a Project Advisor.
